

And it was on this day we decreed,
The Scholars would defend the universe
Against all forces on this holy battleground,
The Library of Alexandria

“Discrete and professional. All teams move quickly and quietly.”

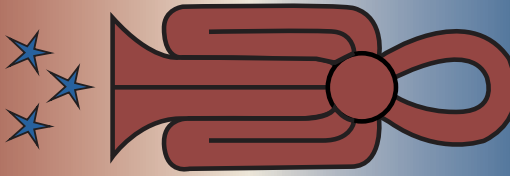

- Philomena Buhari
(Youth Scholar Liason)

“Full of incredibly dedicated people and management team... 10/10.”

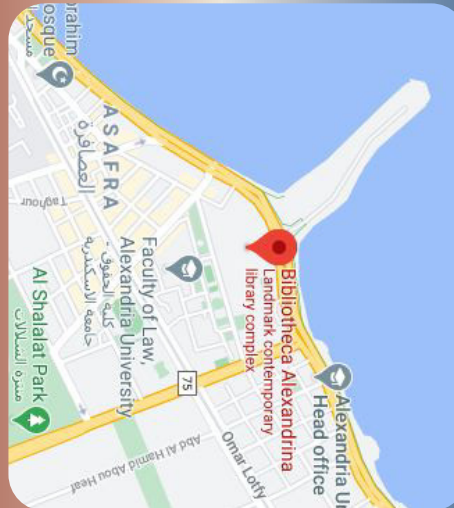

- Hera (Youth Scholar)

“They are fundamentally good people... They care so much about saving people. They are the heroes you need.”

- Eleanor St. James
(Former Archivist)

Follow us on Atlas!
@loa_proper

est. 283 BCE

The Library of Alexandria

Al Azaritah WA Ash Shatebi,
Qism Bab Sharqi,
Alexandria Governorate 21526, Egypt

The Library of Alexandria is a superhero intelligence agency in Alexandria, Egypt responsible for solving problems in the world that ordinary citizens can't accomplish. Despite the importance of their work, they are a small organization of roughly two hundred employees, called Scholars, who are then assembled into teams and sent across the world to do stealth missions for those who hire them. Led by Oshira Buhari, she oversees formation of teams and mission assignments to ensure the best teams for each mission.

The Library provides complete anonymity for its clients and Scholars, and provides priceless training for superheroes and intelligence operations. It is also a suitable place for familial units and team building.

★ Professional

★ Noble

★ Discrete

★ Dependable